

Good Practice Mentors:

Sharing good practice to reach, involve and connect with older people

The Good Practice Mentor (GPM) programme is an innovative project that brings together legacy, learning and resources from Ageing Better, a seven year Test & Learn project that worked to reduce social isolation and loneliness in people aged over 50, and engaged more than 150,000 people in over 366 projects.

The Good Practice Mentors share the learning, resources and skills needed to provide a collaborative local response to social isolation and loneliness among older people, as well as working on a national level, to address challenges faced by many larger organisations striving to reach, connect and empower older people in the community.

The Good Practice Mentor team works with organisations who want to increase their engagement and support of older citizens in the community. We'll share our knowledge and resource to help you build skills and confidence, create new connections, influence decision makers and drive system change. We want to support your journey to find and highlight the voices of older people in the community, creating the right environment for connection building and the development of robust, citizen led networks.

We'll harness the networks and partnerships we have developed through the delivery of Ageing Better, sharing and embedding the learning, knowledge and skills we have acquired.

Each partner brings a unique set of learning and skills to the project; together we offer a wide range of free training, bespoke support for your organisation, and toolkits and resources to help you on your journey to reducing loneliness and isolation.

What the Good Practice Mentor programme offers;

- Innovative and collaborative ways of working
- Culture change in the way systems interact with communities
- Sharing our learning and experiences from past programmes - whatever challenges you come across we've probably been through them before - let us help you!
- A focus on practical tools
- An exploration of third sector infrastructure in your area
- Mentoring for small and independent groups
- A sounding board to share your challenges and ideas for change
- Understanding and adapting our approach for your unique context
- Adapting previous learning to work in your setting – bespoke training offers tailored from what we already do.
- Learning with you!

How a Good Practice Mentor can help you;

- Bespoke and tailored work with your organisation to address specific challenges to engaging with your communities of older people
- Taster sessions of our wider offer
- Existing training/Bespoke training
- Co-Production support
- A listening ear and support to develop your ideas
- Empowering you to share learning and ideas with others
- Delivering solutions to the problems you might be experiencing working with an older community
